Parity plots for both methods developed against published data